I think he's wanting it back as that's reason he asked his PO in Montana as he's now having to pay them probation fees...

We usually wait until expiration which isn't until 2017 so he might come back. But that is a very large balance. Is he OK to wait?

The above client paid his probation fees significantly ahead of schedule and then compacted out-he is curious if he can get any of that $ back now or if he has to wait until his supervision is done with.
