RE: Department of Corrections (DOC) Yamhill County Biennial Plan and Intergovernmental Agreement #5865

Attached is a copy of the proposed Yamhill County Department of Community Justice (YCDCJ) 2019-21 Biennial Plan for your review. This plan is completed by each county jurisdiction statewide each biennium and outlines the details of how all YCDCJ funding streams (DOC Grant-In-Aid, Justice Reinvestment Grant, County General Funds, etc.) will be utilized via a budget summary and various program descriptions of the services provided. For the 2019-21, Yamhill County's allocation increased slightly from the last biennium from 2.37% to 2.43%. The total statewide DOC Community Corrections budget is $268M, down from $273M in the past biennium. The resulting total YCDCJ budget for the 2019-21 is $10,987,225.00.

This plan was presented to the Local Public Safety Coordinating Counsel on 9/25/19 and a vote of approval was received from the membership.

Please also see the attached intergovernmental agreement with DOC (#5865) for Grant In Aid funding stream of $6,516,255 for the 2019-21 biennium.

Upon approval of the Board, both documents are submitted to DOC as a package for final approval.

Thank you for your review and consideration of the DOC biennial plan and IGA. Enclosed is also a letter of support from the Board I hope you will sign in support of the Biennial Plan submission.

Thank you.

October 10, 2019

Dear Director Peters,

The Yamhill County Board of Commissioners joins our Local Public Safety Coordinating Council to present our Yamhill County Department of Community Justice's (YCDCJ) Biennial Plan for 2019-2021. Chair of our Local Public Safety Coordinating Council, Carol Fredrick, highlights a partnership of over 40 years between the county and the state in the administration of programs and practices for effective correctional practice. Local control continues to be effective in Yamhill County given to our sustained spirit of cooperation across criminal justice stakeholders.

We believe our county is honoring legislative direction to promote evidence based practices designed to reduce criminal re-offense in state funded offender populations. In partnership with local criminal justice leaders, YCDCJ continues to focus on implementing evidence-based decision making throughout our local criminal justice system with a specific focus on pretrial justice and sentencing reform. We are pleased to report that we have experienced excellent successes with both programs, such as reduced prison use, increased court appearance rates and decreased pretrial population housed in the Yamhill County Jail. In alignment with this work, Community Justice continues to strive for continued system improvements to reduce recidivism and promote the best outcomes to promote community safety.

Thank you for reviewing Yamhill County's biennial plan.

Yours truly,

Richard L. "Rick" Olson

Program Category:	Administration
Program Description:	Program planning. Operational coordination with criminal justice system components. Budget preparation and monitoring. Development and implementation of contracts for offender resources. Personnel administration. Linkage to other county functions related to services provided to fulfill the mission of the department.
Program Objectives:	To provide effective management of the public funds and programs allocated to the effort of community corrections operations in the county. Build and maintain working relationships with other departments in the county, to include law enforcement, prosecution, judicial, treatment programs and the administrative divisions of the county. Provide coordination for the Local Public Safety Coordinating Council, including the Policy Committee to oversee the mission and direction of the program. Best Practices: Yamhill County Community Justice Administration meets on a weekly basis with the courts, prosecutor's office, and representatives from treatment providers in the county to discuss the movement of clients within the overall criminal justice system. Because management staff of the various organizations participate, there is the opportunity to take immediate action on an identified problem or to gather more information for future discussion. Issues such as jail overcrowding, treatment availability, supervision resources can be explored and, if resolution is not immediately available, at least understanding and collaboration is reached between the parties.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Statewide outcome measures. Evaluation and oversight is exercised by the Yamhill County Board of Commissioners and the Yamhill County Local Public Safety Coordinating Council.

Program Name:	Community Service - Work Crew - Parks Program
Program Category:	Community Service and Work Crew
Program Description:	To provide a work experience program for out of custody offenders and in-custody inmates, so that they may provide symbolic restitution to the community, and learn pro-social employment skills to be utilized during and after their period of supervision, or upon their release. Program Name:	Custodial and Sanction Beds
Program Category:	Custodial/Sanction Beds
Program Description:	Local Control - Incarceration of felony offenders at the Yamhill County Jail for sentences or terms of 12 months or less; includes Yamhill County court sentences, probation revocations, parole/post-prison supervision revocations and administrative sanctions. An individual offender may also be moved to the Work Center if determined to be eligible for that program. Custodial sanction beds – incarceration for sanctions of up to 30 days in the Correctional Facility or Work Center for offenders who have violated terms and conditions of their probation, parole or post-prison supervision. Yamhill County Community Justice operates a 48-bed Work Release/Restitution Center. Sentenced and sanctioned individuals with verified employment are screened for enrollment into the work release program. Work Release enrollees are released each day to their jobs, returning to the facility after each work shift. The work center also serves as a part of the continuum of available sanctions for PO utilization.
Program Objectives:	Provide greater local authority over relatively short-term prisoners. Offer a range of sanctions to appropriately respond to violations of the conditions of supervision. Incorporate structured and supervised work activity. Provide an opportunity for individuals with a history or prospect for employment to maintain a job while serving a jail sentence or sanction. Create opportunities for an employed individual to provide family support, pay restitution and other court-ordered costs while serving a jail sanction/sentence. Offer an intermediate sanction that would allow the person being sanctioned to maintain existing employment. Program effectiveness is measured by successful transition from custody status, to transition, and then successful reintegration back into the community. This offender cohort is evaluated through standardized statistical tracking by the research unit of the Oregon Department of Corrections.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	The practical evaluation of success for this group is to serve the jail term without incident and participate in available in-custody resources, as well as participate in work crew and work release programs. Thereafter, resulting in a successful return to the community by securing an independent residence and full employment. Data collection will occur through CIS/OPS with analysis by Yamhill County Community Justice, Board of Commissioners and the Department of Corrections. Also, the Office of Economic Analysis completes two annual population forecasting snapshots used to develop DOC's Community Corrections allocation formula.

Program Description:	Services for individuals convicted of sex offenses ordered to be in counseling and treatment as a condition of supervision. Services may include subsidized treatment funding or polygraph testing to assist officers in monitoring compliance to supervision requirements. Additional funding for psychological testing and evaluation as needed is an element in this program. Related expenses for other testing, evaluation or services related to sex offender registration and notification tiers are incorporated into this section. Evidence Based Practices: Therapists providing treatment services to this offender population have at a minimum a master's degree. Program content, curriculum and treatment methodology closely follows conventional treatment practices used throughout the county. These practices are directly linked to the goal of reduction in re-offense.

Program Name:	Misdemeanor Probation Supervision
Program Category:	Supervision
Program Description:	Provide structured supervision for misdemeanor offenders convicted primarily of domestic/family assault, sex offenses, driving under the influence of intoxicants and misdemeanor drug offenses. All cases will be assessed for risk level and classified appropriately. Cases will then be assigned to the appropriate department program, providing for supervision and engagement in treatment (per court imposed conditions and/or risk/need). Sanctions will be utilized for this offender population, using department guidelines and available resources. County general funds, state funds and various client fees charged by Community Justice to the correctional clients are utilized to provide case supervision.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Department evaluation is determined by completion of general and special conditions, completion of mandatory treatment programs, a sustained period of sobriety and no new crime arrests while under supervision. Annual caseload audits to confirm completion of service referrals, assessments, and contact standards.

Program Name:	Parole, Post-Prison Supervision and Transitional Leave
Program Category:	Supervision
Program Description:	Field supervision of offenders released from state prison(s), county correctional facilities (i.e. local control SB1145 offenders) and cases received through the Interstate Compact. Officers provide intake, risk assessment, classification, determination of risk level and needs assessment. Services involve supervision, services and sanctions and program referral in a continuum matching the risk and needs of the individual offender. All cases will be assessed for risk level and classified appropriately. Cases will then be assigned to the appropriate department program, providing for supervision and engagement in treatment (if required). Sanctions will be utilized for this offender population, using department guidelines and available resources. Offenders scoring in the high and medium risk category will be given supervision and services priority. High and medium risk offenders will each have a targeted case plan. Supervision strategies will adhere to the basic principles of Evidence-Based Practices.
Program Objectives:	Achieve satisfaction of ordered conditions to promote a positive transition from incarceration to the open community. Promote law-abiding adjustment from incarceration to self-support. The department will assist in transition by verifying an appropriate residence, developing employment and supporting the offender in pro-social activities and programs. Officers will provide opportunities to assist the offender to avoid self-destructive lifestyle choices involving alcohol and drug use, criminal associations and poor choices leading to involvement in criminal activities. Program Name:	Restitution Project / Restitution Court
Program Description:	Offenders owing restitution are placed on a specific caseload where efforts to collect restitution are enhanced. Special attention is given to encourage payment, and specific techniques are utilized such as budget management and employment assistance. Offenders who still fail to make reasonable progress towards satisfying their restitution obligation are placed in Yamhill County Restitution Court. Participants in Restitution Court are required to appear before a Circuit Court Judge periodically. The court then encourages payment and enforces lack of payment through structured sanctions. The implementation of the Restitution Project has resulted in a dramatic increase in restitution collections for victims in Yamhill County.
Program Objectives:	To increase restitution collection rates to provide reparation to the victim and to satisfy the mandate of the court. To promote offender accountability to the court and to the victim. To provide incentives and accountability to the offender to promote compliance and restoration of the victim.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Restitution collection performance measure. Locally collected data. Satisfaction of special condition regarding restitution obligation. Positive Case Closure performance measure.

Program Name:	Transition Services
Program Category:	Transition Services
Program Description:	Transition Services are provided to incarcerated offenders to assist in the transition from custody to the community. Direct financial assistance, often referred to as "subsidy" is utilized with some individuals to assist in the development of an appropriate and effective release plan. Linking individuals as soon as possible with treatment programs and available resources in the community is another important element in community integration. Release planning also involves coordination of services with appropriate agencies and other groups/partners (e.g., DOC, community agencies, faith community and mentoring services).
Program Objectives:	Assist correctional clients in post-incarceration to lead a productive, pro-social lifestyle, return or locate a job, and/or re-establish family relationships. Utilize available community resources and provide appropriate supports to assist the individual to make a successful transition back into the community.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	The evaluation of this effort is measured as a correctional client transitions from in-house count to the caseload of a field officer in AS400. If transitional efforts are successful, offenders will be a linked to treatment programs, employment counselors and job referrals. An appropriate, stable residence will be established. If a transitioning individual is moving to another area, transfer of a correctional client's supervision to another county or state will be coordinated.

Program Name:	Evidence-based Sentencing Project (Smart Sentencing Initiative)
Program Category:	Other Services
Program Description:	Yamhill County implemented the Smart Sentencing Initiative program in November 2013. This program was designed to decrease state prison growth by assessing specific presumptive prison bound defendants to determine appropriateness for prison deferral or a reduction in prison months. The Defendant Assessment Report (DAR) targets presumptive prison, non-person, felony, offenses on a pre-sentence level. The DAR is 3-6 page report prepared by Community Justice which outlines a defendant's risk for recidivism based on the LSCMI (Level of Services Case Management Inventory), Women's Risk Need Assessment (WRNA) and the ASUS (Adult Substance Use Survey). In addition to providing risk, motivation, substance abuse and mental health information, DCJ makes a recommendation whether or not the defendant could be safely managed in the community. It also outlines suggested Special Conditions of community supervision which are based on the risk areas identified in the DAR. Currently, there is one JRI funded Community Justice Parole/Probation Officer responsible for completion of all DAR cases as well as provide community supervision of those who receive downward dispositional departures as a result of the DAR. Supervision is enhanced, evidence and dosage based supervision with increased contact standards and content of contact includes cognitive behavioral interventions. There is on JRI funded .5 FTE PO Aide who supports associated data collection and cognitive behavioral intervention work with program participants. One grant-in-aid Corrections Manager supervises the program and is responsible for overall data collection. DCJ intends to continue funding the Manager position to provide oversight to the project and maintain data collection. Finally, DCJ continues to expand data collection efforts eliciting assistance from Tom O'Connor, in order to more closely examine trends and outcomes to the project.
Program Objectives:	Provide evidence based risk, motivation, substance abuse and mental health information on a pre-sentence basis with the goal of reducing state prison growth. Recommend Special Conditions of community supervision that are directly connected to an individual offender's identified risk areas to reduce the likelihood of recidivism. Provide enhanced, dosage based, community supervision for those who receive downward dispositional departures as a result of the DAR.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	The sentencing program commenced in November of 2013. Prison months deferred by way of downward dispositional and durational departures as of 9/6/19 are approximately 2792, which includes deductions for prison months imposed due to revocations (999 months). As of 6/30/19, 131 individuals had been deferred from prison, 42 successfully completed their period of community supervision with 35 of the 131 individuals having been revoked. Just 11 individuals were revoked since project inception as a result of a new a new crime. DCJ collects data on the DAR project on an ongoing basis, which includes more than 75 data elements. Additionally, DCJ supplies the Criminal Justice Commission regular progress report as requirement of the Justice Reinvestment Grant.

Program Name:	Pretrial Justice Services
Program Category:	Other Services
Program Description:	The Yamhill County Pretrial Services Officers (PSO) provides all pretrial defendants with interviews and risk assessments within 24-hours of initial arrest and booking at the local jail for the purposes of providing a release recommendation to the Court for initial arraignment. Current elements of Yamhill County's Pretrial Justice Program include: assessment of risk, community stability and other factors as determined by Oregon statute; communication of information and written report of release recommendations to the Court; monitoring of any pretrial release conditions imposed by the Court; additional review of those held in jail pretrial on a regular basis for additional release consideration; and measure performance for program improvements as needed. Additional services that are provided include pretrial supervision of nearly 500 defendants with accountability of pretrial misconduct and reinforcement of compliant behavior and automated notification of court dates for those on pretrial release through Fieldware contracted automated system. Implementation of Automon, a pretrial data information system, is currently underway. Outcome reporting options are a project focus.
Program Objectives:	The mission of the Yamhill County Pretrial Justice Agency is to promote pretrial justice for people who are accused of committing crime and for the people and communities who have been harmed by crime. We achieve this mission by maximizing three things: pretrial jail release of appropriate defendants who can be safely managed in the community, court appearance and community/victim safety. Current meta-analysis reveal that pretrial incarcerated is directly correlated with the severity and length of the sentence imposed upon conviction. This finding was recently replicated in Oregon via a Portland State University research study. Per the principle of "presumption of innocence", release of the correctly assessed defendants both decreases risk and the length of jail or prison sentences imposed upon case resolution. Through assessment, we are able to make evidence-informed decisions about jail release of low risk defendants who can remain in the community safely without additional criminal activity. We also increase pretrial defendant accountability through pretrial supervision services (i.e., office visits, phone contacts, response to community complaints, UA, electronic/alcohol monitoring, etc.) and automated court notification.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Yamhill County pretrial output measures include risk assessment, pretrial interview of all incarcerated defendants, release recommendation to court upon arraignment, future release consideration past arraignment hearing date, pretrial supervision and response to pretrial misconduct, and court notification. Pretrial outcome measures that are currently and/or will be collected and analyzed are: court appearance rate, safety rate (the percentage of released defendants who are not arrested with a new offense during the pretrial stage), concurrence rate (the ratio of defendants whose supervision level or detention status corresponds with their assessed risk of pretrial misconduct), success rate (the percentage of released defendants who are not revoked for technical violations of the conditions of their release and appear for all scheduled court appearances, and are not arrested with a new offense during pretrial supervision), pretrial detainee length of stay, number of defendants released by release type, caseload ratio (the number of supervised defendants divided by the number of case managers), time on pretrial supervision and pretrial detention ratio (proportion of pretrial defendants who are detained throughout pretrial case processing). To date, we have reduced our pretrial jail population by approximately 20% since 2011, while maintaining our pretrial court appearance rate of approximately 5%.

September 25th, 2019

Collette Peters, Director
Oregon Department of Corrections
2575 Center Street NE
Salem, Oregon 97301-4667

Dear Director Peters,

This letter is included within the introductory pages of the 2017-2019 Biennial Plan submitted by Yamhill County Department of Community Justice. This year represents over 40 years of collaborative partnership with the State of Oregon in the administration of local community corrections (1977-2019). It should be noted that Yamhill County was the second county in Oregon to choose full participation in a then newly emerging design of county operated correctional programs.

The Yamhill County Department of Community Justice (YCDCJ) plan was presented to our Local Public Safety Coordinating Council on 9/25/19 and their feedback has been incorporated.

Yamhill County continues to move DCJ toward evidence-based correctional practices as is mandated by law. Parole and Probation Officers in the department continue to receive regular trainings regarding best practices. In partnership with local criminal justice stakeholders, Yamhill County is focusing on integrating evidence-based decision making throughout our local criminal justice system reducing recidivism rates and the use of state prison beds. As a team, our main areas of focus continue to be sentencing reform and pretrial justice.

I believe our long history of working together as a criminal justice system at the county level promotes collaboration and system enhancements. When we work together, we find the most efficiency and success for community supervision, services and accountability. We offer our thanks for accepting and reviewing our Biennial Plan for the 2019-2021 biennium.

Cordially,

Carol Fredrick
